

Dear Parent/Carer

1 November 2022

As you'll be aware from previous correspondence and shared overviews of the academic year, the Year 11 mock examinations begin on Monday 21 November 2022. That gives your child 3 further weeks to fully prepare for this highly important set of assessments. Targeted after school intervention sessions continue up until the mock examinations and it is imperative your child continues to attend if this has been requested and that they make the most of drop in sessions where appropriate.

All Year 11 students have received their mock examination timetables today supported by a tutor time session on planning their revision over the next few weeks. They have been provided with a printed revision study guide and access to revision strategies resources on our Year 11 Google Classroom. This is in addition to the range of subject specific resources shared by your child's teachers on their own Google Classrooms.

I'd like to take this opportunity to ask for your support in ensuring that your child prepares fully for their mock examinations. Your child should be utilising the resources available to them, including planning a two week revision timetable that they stick to in the lead up to Monday 21 November. Revision is difficult for all students and a skill that your child will continue to develop this academic year. Your support in ensuring that your child gives the necessary time and effort to their revision, in a suitable and productive environment, is greatly appreciated and will help ensure that they achieve success.

Attached to this letter you will find a copy of the Year 11 mock examination timetable and your child should be able to show you any of the revision resources referred to.

Thank you for your continued support at this crucial time and should you require any further information please do not hesitate to contact me.

Kind regards

Louise Boyles
